

What Would You Do? Scenarios
Travel and Tourism Management

You have just been hired at a popular theme park. You notice teenagers enter the park through the back entrance and no one stopped them.

What Would You Do?

You are volunteering at a U.S. National Park and see that someone is destroying government property.

What Would You Do?

You have been hired at a major sports arena in your city. Your friends are putting pressure on you to arrange a meeting with a major league player for pictures.

What Would You Do?

You are an employee at the local movie theater. Your friends want you to let them in for free.

What Would You Do?

You are a contract employee working for an airline cleaning the plane between flights. You find an iPod in the seat back pocket.

What Would You Do?

What Would You Do? Scenarios
Travel and Tourism Management

You are employed at the souvenir shop at a theme park. You notice students from the local school stealing small items from the display.

What Would You Do?

For one reason or another, you always show up to work 10 to 15 minutes late. Your manager is upset with you and wants to fire you but you really need this job.

What Would You Do?

The manager at the car rental business is interested in hiring you. You lied about your employment history.

What Would You Do?

Your new employer requires a knowledge test before you start working. You notice the answers on the desk and the supervisor leaves the room.

What Would You Do?

The manager (male or female) becomes overly friendly to a new employee (male or female).

What Would You Do?

What Would You Do? Scenarios
Travel and Tourism Management

What Would You Do?

What Would You Do?

What Would You Do?

What Would You Do?

What Would You Do?